Fact Sheet and FAQ for students

August 2011

Student registration

Background

Australia's national registration and accreditation scheme (the National Scheme) began nationally on 1 July 2010, with the exception of Western Australia which joined the scheme on 18 October 2010. The National Scheme is governed by nationally consistent legislation, the Health Practitioner Regulation National Law as in force in each State and Territory (the National Law). The role of the National Boards under the National Law is to protect the public.

Under the National Law, the National Boards for each of the 10 professions (as listed in the above AHPRA logo) have the power to register students from 2011.

The student register has been established from data provided by education providers to allow for the registration of students who are enrolled in an approved program of study for the 2011 academic year. Some students in some professions were registered before the National Scheme started. These students became part of the National Scheme on 1 July 2010 and are listed on the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA) Student Register.

The Psychology Board of Australia does not register students as these students need to apply for provisional registration. Psychology students wishing to apply for provisional registration must do so either at the beginning of:

- a) the 4+2 internship program; or
- b) their higher degree pathway.

Note: An approved program of study, for a health profession means an accredited program of study—
(a) approved under section 49(1) by the National Board established for the health profession; and
(b) included in the list published by the National Agency under section 49(5).

A list of approved programs of study can be found on the respective Board's website.

Getting registered

Students enrolled in Approved Programs of Study

AHPRA has worked directly with education providers to register students for the 2011 academic year and will continue to work with education providers for ongoing data transfer and updates of students' status.

Updates will be requested from Universities and TAFEs after each academic census date (March and August) and from Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) before the start of the approved program of study that they are providing.

Students undertaking Clinical Training that is not part of an Approved Program of Study

Student registration also applies to students who are not enrolled in an approved program of study and are undertaking clinical training in a health profession for which they do not hold health practitioner registration.

Education providers must provide student details at the start of clinical training.

For the purpose of clinical training, education providers also include health services, other organisations and in some instances, individuals.

Individual students do not need to do anything to register with their National Board.

What impact does registration have on students?

Under the National Law, information about students will be entered on the Student Register. This information is not published online and is not publicly available. The information AHPRA requests from education providers includes:

- Name of Education Provider
- Student's name
- Student ID number
- Student's date of birth
- Student's sex
- Student's mailing address in Australia and email details
- Name of the approved program of study or clinical training being undertaken by the student
- The date on which the student started the approved program of study or clinical training
- The date on which the student is expected to complete the approved program of study or clinical training
- For students that have completed or otherwise ceased to be enrolled in the approved program of study or clinical training, the date of the completion or cessation
- The reason why the student completed or otherwise ceased to be enrolled in the approved program of study or clinical training

No fee applies to student registration.

The National Boards' and AHPRA's role is focused on registering students and managing notifications about students:

- whose health is impaired to such a degree that there may be substantial risk of harm to the public or
- who have been found guilty of an offence punishable by 12 months imprisonment or more or
- who have a conviction of, or are the subject of, a finding of guilt for an offence punishable by imprisonment or
- who have contravened an existing condition or undertaking.

Notifications may be received by AHPRA from either:

- an education provider who is required under the National Law to report students whose health is impaired to such a degree that there may be substantial risk of harm to the public, or
- a person or organisation who voluntarily reports the student for a health impairment or criminal matter and/or a contravention of an existing condition or undertaking.

National Boards and AHPRA have no role to play in the academic progress or conduct of students (other than offences punishable by 12 months imprisonment or more, or, when they have a conviction of, or are the subject of, a finding of guilt for an offence punishable by imprisonment). Matters relating to academic progress or conduct are for education providers to address.

FAQ

Why do students need to be registered?

When passing the National Law, Australian parliaments decided that students should be registered in the interests of public safety. The Commonwealth, State and Territory Ministers for Health were guided by this principle and determined that the impact of registration on students should be limited to achieve this. They agreed that the National Scheme would enable National Boards to act on student impairment matters or when there is a conviction of a serious nature that may impact on public safety.

Which professions will have registered students?

Approved Programs of Study

Nine of the 10 National Boards as listed in the AHPRA logo above, register students who are enrolled in approved programs of study.

The Psychology Board of Australia does not register students. Students enrolled in an approved program of study that leads to registration with the Psychology Board of Australia need to apply for provisional registration. Psychology students wishing to apply for provisional registration must do so either at the beginning of:

- a) the 4+2 internship program; or
- b) their higher degree pathway.

Undertaking Clinical Training that does not form part of an approved program of study

The same nine National Boards are required under the National Law to register students for whom an education provider arranges clinical training that does not form part of an approved program of study. For the purpose of clinical training, education providers include universities, TAFEs and Registered Training Organisations as well as health services, other organisations and in some instances, individuals. Please note that student registration is not required for people who are already registered in the health profession in which the clinical training is being undertaken.

The Psychology Board of Australia does not register students and will use another registration type for this purpose. Psychology students will need to contact the local AHPRA office to apply for registration before commencing their clinical training. Details of local offices can be found on the Contact Us page of the website.

I am a student in an approved course, what do I have to do to get registered?

You do not have to do anything to register as a student with your National Board.* AHPRA will work with your education provider to obtain all relevant information about currently enrolled students in approved courses. This list will be either re-confirmed after each academic census date or before the start of the course, if this is at a different time.

*If you are a Psychology student, please refer to the question on 'Which professions will have registered students?'

What period of time will I be registered as a student?

All Boards (except Psychology which is not registering students) have confirmed that registration of students will commence:

1. from the first year of the program for students enrolled in approved programs of study; or
2. on commencement of clinical training in a health profession for those persons who are not enrolled in an approved program of study and are not registered in the health profession in which the clinical training is being undertaken.

Student Registration ends when a student completes or otherwise ceases to be enrolled an approved program of study or clinical training. The obligation rests with the education provider to advise AHPRA of students who complete or cease their approved program of study or clinical training.

Will the Board know my academic results?

No. National Boards and AHPRA have no role to play in the academic progress or conduct of students (other than offences punishable by 12 months imprisonment or more; or a conviction of, or where they are the subject of, a finding of guilt for an offence punishable by imprisonment). Education providers manage the academic progress and disciplinary pathways for students independently of AHPRA.

When a student lodges an application for registration, the relevant National Board and AHPRA will know the student's academic results.

Why does AHPRA need my email address?

AHPRA asks education providers to supply students' email addresses to enable ongoing communication. AHPRA may use email to communicate with students about administrative matters. National Boards may use email to communicate about matters relating to their profession, including newsletters.

Will I receive a registration certificate or notification of my registration from AHPRA?

No. Students will not receive a certificate of registration or any form of confirmation of student registration from AHPRA. The student register is not a public register. Health services seeking proof of a student's registration will need to contact the education provider with whom the student is enrolled, to verify students are registered.

Will I be automatically registered as a practitioner after I complete my studies?

No. There is a separate process with specific registration standards that must be met when you apply for registration as a health practitioner. More information about the registration standards for each National Board is published on the AHPRA website www.ahpra.gov.au and individual Board's websites.

For more information about the graduate registration process please visit the Graduate Applications section of the website.

What are my obligations as a student to tell AHPRA?

Under the National Law, students enrolled in an approved program of study or undertaking clinical training must notify AHPRA through the local office within seven days of becoming aware that:

- they have been charged with an offence punishable by 12 months imprisonment or more or
- they have been convicted of, or are the subject of, a finding of guilt for an offence punishable by imprisonment or
- their registration under the law of another country that provides for the registration of students has been suspended or cancelled.

Visit the Contact Us section of the AHPRA website for the contact details of your local AHPRA office.

What is a voluntary notification against a student?

Any entity (person or organisation) may make a voluntary notification to AHPRA about a student when they believe that the student:

- has been charged with an offence, or has been convicted or found guilty of an offence, that is punishable by 12 months imprisonment or more or
- has, or may have an impairment that they believe may harm the public or
- has, or may have, contravened a condition of the student's registration or an undertaking given by the student to the National Board.

The National Law provides protection from civil, criminal and administrative liability for those persons, who in good faith make a notification under the National Law.

What happens when a voluntary, mandatory or self notification is made against a student?

AHPRA will assess all notifications to determine whether a Board must consider taking immediate action to protect public health or safety. More information about this process is published on the Notification Process page of the AHPRA website.
